

Interactivity

Aloha, my name is Jerina. I'm a former 'Ike Hawai'i student. We thought that the best way to showcase our high school program is through me, a student, who can tell you first-hand what a wonderful experience I had. So let's start at the beginning of the course and talk about all the interactivity. Little did I know that when I logged on to my course for the first time, there would be a video from my Kumu greeting me. She told me what I would be learning for the upcoming unit. Throughout the courses we got involved with each other by participating in chats, recordings, and discussion boards (which is one of my favorite things to do). We go back and forth on the different topic questions and interact with one another. Sometimes it would lead to a debate on a certain subject, or to all of us just talking about our day. Kumu Cua would also be involved in commenting and even posting questions that made us think deeper. This interaction made me feel that I'm not just sitting at a computer, by myself, but I am apart of a class filled with students.
